Re: Comments on Newly Promulgated Integration
Rule 11.02(4)(f) (Trust Fund Disbursements)

Dear Sir:

I have reviewed the newly promulgated integration rule as set out in the Florida Bar News dated May 1, 1985 and generally support the concept set out in that rule.

However, I recommend changing the word "check" in paragraphs (1), (4) and (6) to the word "draft". The word "check" is generally understood to mean a draft drawn on a bank. (See §673.104(2)(b) Fla. Stat.) A draft drawn on a thrift would technically not be a check. Also insurance companies commonly issue drafts drawn on their own funds, although payable through a bank, and are therefore technically not "checks".

Sincerely,

James L. Simon
