Re: Proposed Amendment to Rule 1.100

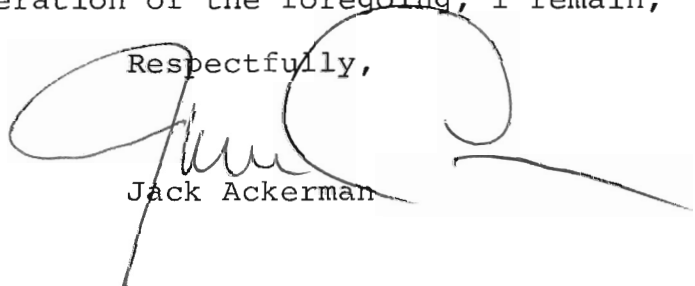

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the official notice contained in the March 15, 1986, issue of "The Florida Bar News" please consider this as a negative comment concerning the passage of same.

If we recognize that every time an attorney does some work in a case, it must be paid for by either the client, the adverse party, or otherwise, and if we further recognize that attorney fees have reached a point where there is almost a constant and/or continual comment concerning same, including, but not exclusively, the public reaction against the mounting expenses connected with a lawsuit, the proposed amendment will do nothing but increase same and add to the clamor.

With thanks for your consideration of the foregoing, I remain,

Respectfully,

Jack Ackerman
