SUPPLEMENTAL BRIEF OF APPELLANT

SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

Appellant asks this Court to revisit whether the murder was cold, calculated, and premeditated, and whether it was harmless error to give the jury an unconstitutional instruction on this aggravator.

ARGUMENT

ISSUE PRESENTED

THE TRIAL COURT ERRED IN FINDING THE MURDER WAS COLD, CALCULATED, AND PREMEDITATED AND IN GIVING THE JURY AN UNCONSTITUTIONAL JURY INSTRUCTION ON THIS AGGRAVATOR.

On the initial appeal in this case, appellant argued the trial court erred in finding the murder was cold, calculated, and premeditated (CCP) because the killing was the product of violent emotions triggered by the loss of a love relationship.

Appellant's argument was based in part on Dr. Krop's testimony that this was a crime of rage and that Reese was seriously impaired at the time of the murder.

Appellant also argued in the initial appeal that the trial court erred in failing to expressly evaluate, find, and weigh unrebutted mitigating evidence, including Dr. Krop's testimony that this was a crime of rage and that Reese was seriously impaired at the time of the murder.

The Court affirmed the CCP aggravator but agreed with Reese "there was mitigation offered in the record which was apparently unrebutted" and remanded for entry of a new sentencing order.

This Court's affirmance of CCP therefore was based on a sentencing order deficient in its evaluation of evidence critical to the CCP issue. This Court's affirmance of CCP thus is unreliable and appellant asks the Court to revisit this issue when a valid sentencing order as to mitigation is rendered.

CONCLUSION

Appellant respectfully asks this Court to reverse and remand for a new penalty phase proceeding before a newly empaneled jury.

Respectfully submitted,
