Now Comes: Creditor: Larry-Wetzel: a man address: 3112 Hickory Street, Navarre, Florida by through the undersigned authority Notary: State of Florida (Notary) under Oath, Bond, Hand and Seal, pursuant to: 55.10, 55.10(2), Chapter 55, 55.501- 55.509 Florida Statutes, common law, Res judicata, Laches, Time Limits, Estoppel by Record, uniform commercial code, Fair Debt Collection practice act, Full Faith and Credit, chapter 48, F.S., (e.g. 48.161, 48.181), filed in court record without waiving past objections or rights reserved and denied by: Debtors: THE TRAVELERS COMPANIES, INC. F/K/A/, ST. PAUL FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE, COMPANY, AND ST. PAUL TRAVELERS COMPANIES, INC., A.K.A. BRIGHTLIGHT LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, A.K.A. TRAVELERS INSURANCE COMPANY, A.K.A. THOMAS BRINK 5201 West Kennedy Blvd. Suite 450, Tampa, Florida, Notice: Above named parties are in agreement with respect to the statute of limitations above name parties are in agreement, FEFJA does not contain its own statute of limitations, and the Hesses argue that Florida's twenty-year statute of limitations for an action on a Florida judgment applies. See § 95.11(1). Patrick contends that a different result is required by a nonuniform provision of FEFJA contained in section 55.502(4). Section 55.502 provides as follows:

55.502 Construction of act. —

- (1) As used in ss. 55.501-55.509, the term "foreign judgment" means any judgment, decree, or order of a court of any other state or of the United States if such judgment, decree or order is entitled to full faith and credit in this state.
- (2) This act shall not be construed to impair the right of a judgment creditor to bring an action to enforce his or her judgment instead of proceeding under this act.
- (3) This act shall be interpreted and construed to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law with respect to the subject of this act among states enacting it.
- (4) Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to alter, modify, or extend the limitation period applicable for the enforcement of foreign judgments.

2/27/02

(Emphasis added.)

The Hesses contend that subsection (4) simply refers to subsection (2) above with respect to an action on a foreign judgment and its five-year statute of limitations in section 95.11(2)(a), thus leaving Florida's twenty-year statute of limitations applicable to a foreign judgment domesticated under FEFJA. State and federal courts in Florida have agreed with this interpretation. See In re Goodwin, 325 B.R. 328, 333-34 (Bankr.M.D.Fla.2005) (determining that the twenty-year statute of limitations in section 95.11(1) applied to Maine judgments recorded under FEFJA); see also Le Credit Lyonnais, S.A. v. Nadd, 741 So.2d 1165, 1169, 1172 (Fla. 5th DCA 1999) (analyzing FEFJA in a case concerning out-of-country foreign judgments), aff'd, 804 So.2d 1226 (Fla.2001); N.Y. State Dep't of Taxation v. Patafio, 829 So.2d 314, 319 (Fla. 5th DCA 2002) (Sharp, J., concurring specially) (stating that when registered under FEFJA "the foreign judgment becomes a Florida judgment and is then subject to the Florida statute of limitations for Florida judgments").

In Nadd, the Fifth District stated that one interpretation of section 55.502(4) is that section 95.11(2)(a), the five-year statute of limitations on an action on a foreign judgment, "remains as a bar to suits brought under the common law mode of enforcement, having referenced that remedy in a closely preceding provision." 741 So.2d at 1169. The bankruptcy court in In re Goodwin found this to be "the more accurate interpretation of the non-uniform FEFJA provision." 325 B.R. at 333. That interpretation is consistent with the later provision in section 55.503(1) that a domesticated foreign judgment is to be treated like a Florida judgment. And, "[t]o hold otherwise places a greater restraint on the enforcement of foreign judgments than is warranted in light of the policy behind adopting the FEFJA and similar Uniform laws." Id. Furthermore, "[p]ermitt[ing] strained readings which obviate the clear language providing a judgment, once domesticated, shall be treated in the same manner as a Florida state court judgment is not necessary or warranted." Id., see: All exhibits.

But section 55.502(4) has also been interpreted "according to its 'plain language'" to refer to the limitation period in the state rendering the foreign judgment. See In re Tranter, 245 B.R. 419, 422 (Bankr.S.D.Fla.2000) (determining that a Kentucky judgment registered under FEFJA was subject to Kentucky's fifteen-year statute of limitations). In dicta, some Florida state courts have also suggested this same result. See Haigh, 940 So.2d at 1234 ("Specifically, registration of and proceedings to enforce a foreign judgment are derivative of the original judgment and are therefore subject to the limitations period in the jurisdiction where the judgment was originally rendered."); Friona, 902 So.2d at 866 (recognizing that a foreign judgment must be recorded before expiration of the judgment under the laws of the rendering forum but going on to state that "[o]nce domesticated, a foreign judgment will be effective for a period no longer than the original forum's statute of limitations or twenty years, whichever comes first"). See: All exhibits.

Since In re Tranter, however, the Southern District of Florida has stated that a domesticated foreign judgment under FEFJA is subject to Florida's twenty-year statute of limitations, citing the Middle District of Florida's opinion in In re Goodwin, 325 B.R. at 333. See 645 W. 44th St. Assocs. v. Koch, No. 13-61475-Civ-Scola, 2014 WL 1652035, at *2 (S.D.Fla. Apr. 24, 2014). And relying on the reasoning in In re Goodwin and Koch, the First District determined that Florida's twenty-year statute of limitations applied to a Nevada judgment domesticated in Florida under FEFJA. Desert Palace, Inc. v. Wiley, 145 So.3d 946, 948 (Fla. 1st DCA 2014). See: All exhibits.

Above named parties agree that, as worded, section 55.502(4) applies to Florida's five-year statute of limitations applicable to actions to enforce a foreign judgment referenced in subsection (2) of the same section, not the varied statutes of limitation in states around the country. The practical result is that by domesticating the Illinois judgment under FEFJA, Florida's twenty-year statute of limitations applies and begins to run from the date of the Illinois judgment filed in Florida. See: All exhibits, Michael, 832 So.2d at 217.
